HAIRNETS

Present Conditions
Prices Still Easy
A Healthier Market

THINGS in the hairnet world are not too good. Business in hairnets is confined to the advertised lines, and that is the reason why exporters find it difficult to market their merchandise. The major portion of the exports from China comprise shipments by firms here to their American representatives who have their own plants and factories. This explains why exporters are losing out in this line. The trade until recently had been confined mostly to double mesh, but there has been a steady movement during the past two years in favor of single-mesh hairnets. There is a slow but steady return to single-mesh, and according to present indications singles will soon hold their own with the double.

According to the report of the American Consul-General, the trade in hairnets has fallen off, but as a matter of fact the exports have not shown any shrinkage. The export value of hairnets from Shanghai shows a falling off from one-and-a-half million gold dollars in the first nine months of 1922 to about a million gold dollars in the first nine months of this year. This was because of the lower market prices and possibly lower exchange. As a matter of fact, the quantity of hairnets exported is just about the same as last year.

Early in the year prices were firm, but they eased off in the spring and remain in that easy state at the present time. That has brought about a healthier condition in the hairnet industry. Sharp fluctuations have been ruinous for the importer and exporter. When the fluctuation is in favor of the exporter the importer is apt to make unjust claims, and when it is in favor of the importer, the exporter is liable to ship inferior merchandise.

Most of the shipments of human hairnets from China are made from Chefoo. Shanghai comes next and Tsinanfu third.

Shanghai exporters have found it very difficult to compete with Chefoo and Tsinanfu, as Shanghai is nothing more than a re-sale market. Tsinanfu and Chefoo are very close to sources of production and are better equipped with factories, where these hairnets are repaired. Dealers in the interior are not so willing to come down to Shanghai and sell their merchandise when it can be sold with less risk and travelling expense following statistics in gold dollars of the value of the exports of human hair nets from the three principal centres of export in China are interesting:

Chefoo in 1921 exported to the United States 4½ million dollars worth, while last year the exports from there reached only G. $3,325,000, a decrease in value over 1921 of G. 1,175,000.

From Shanghai there went to the United States in 1921 G. $2,200,000 worth of hairnets, while last year the exports from here only amounted to some 2 million gold dollars, or a decrease of G. $580,000.

Tsinan exports in 1921 were valued at G. $1,375,000 and last year at G. $935,000, in other words, a falling off of $440,000.

A three-quarter yearly comparison of these ports as far as exports of hairnets are concerned yields the following researches: Shanghai, first nine months of 1921 G. $2,100,000, 1922, G. $1,575,000 and this year G. $1,025,000; Chefoo 1921, G. $3,600,000; 1922, G. $2,350,000; and nine months of this year G. $1,475,000; Tsinan in 1921 (nine months) G. $1,100,000, 1922 G. $710,000 and first nine months of this year G. $510,000.

Sharp fluctuations have been a feature of the human hairnet market since before the Great War. During the War an embargo was placed by the Allies and exports of hairnets were prohibited to all parts of the world. Before the embargo became effective prices went up, but after the embargo came into operation hairnets could be bought in China for a song. This was one of the big injuries done to the industry, hairnets selling after the embargo at about 20 cents per cattie. With the European and American markets absolutely cleaned up, the end of the War saw a revival of buying. This brought about another unnatural condition. China found herself unable to produce one-fifth of what was required. This resulted in prices rising from a very low figure to six and seven dollars gold per gross. Exchange was advancing at the time and that made conditions doubly bad.

When all the exporters had completed their commitments a reverse action set in the market here and the market dropped as rapidly as it rose. For sometime both the China and the American markets were overflooded with stocks. Since then, there have been several violent fluctuations both ways that have proved very detrimental to the industry, and exporters and importers. The present price is very fair to the workers and to the importers. So long as this can be used as a basis for both the workers and the buyers without violent fluctuations, a very steady business will be assured.

BRITAIN HAS HER LIFE AT STAKE, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

Former Premier Gets Warm Reception At Edinburgh

FLAYS LABORITES

Reunited Liberalism Will Win, He Declares

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 26.—Mr. Lloyd George had a great reception at Waverley station, Edinburgh, en route to Newcastle from Glasgow.

Addressing a huge crowd from a lorry as a platform the ex-Premier said that the contest was the most momentous for many years. The life of the country depended upon the issue. Referring to Mr. Baldwin's statement that he was confident the people would win, Mr. Lloyd George declared that Mr. Baldwin really hoped that the people would be beaten by triangular contests. Whatever happened in the election, there would be a majority of millions against the Prime Minister's ill-conceived, hasty and dangerous proposals.

Sir Walter Runciman, who has up to the present been at political variance with the ex-Premier, presided at Mr. Lloyd George's meeting at Newcastle. After a speech of welcome, Sir Walter Runciman said that he wanted to shake hands publicly with Mr. Lloyd George. The ex-Premier rose and both clasped hands amid cheers.

Mr. Lloyd George, in his speech, said that the heart had been taken out of the Liberal Party by distressing family rows. Hundreds of thousands had voted for Labour at the last election through sheer despair. Now that the Liberals were reunited, they were going to have an effect on the country's destines unprecedented in the Party's history. The only good thing in the Labour Party's program, he declared, was borrowed from the Liberals, whose gigantic policy would completely revolutionise the conditions of the people. After expatiating on the evils of protection, Mr. Lloyd George concluded dramatically that free trade had won the war.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 26.—Today's nominations led to some surprises. For example, the Labor nominee for the Bridgwater division withdrew at the last moment, leaving Sir Robert Sanders, the Minister of Agriculture, a straight fight with the Liberal candidate.

In the Abbey Division of Westminister Dr. Finn-Cane, the Liberal candidate, retired, leaving Brigadier-General J. S. Nicholson unopposed. Chelsea produced a Liberal candidate at the last moment, making a three-cornered fight for the Air Minister, Sir Samuel Hoare.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald has now a straight fight with the Conservative at Aberavon, the Liberal nominee having retired at eleventh hour.

Two unexpected candidates have appeared at Birmingham, one, a Liberal, against Sir Francis Lowe at Edgbaston, and the second, a Laborite, against Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland in the Erdington division.

A woman journalist, Mrs. Penny, provided a surprise at Berwick, being nominated Labor candidate against Mrs. Hilton-Philipson (Miss Mabel Russell), Conservative. The Labor split at Paisley has not been healed, thus Mr. Asquith with have three opponents, a Laborite, a Co-operative and a Conservative.

The most dramatic nomination was that of the Conservative, Major Briathwaite, who arrived in Pontefract from America three seconds before the closing.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 26.—Excluding Oxford and the Welsh Universities, which make their nominations tomorrow, the following are the totals of candidates nominated:

529 Conservatives.
454 Liberals.
434 Laborites.
7 Conservative Free Traders.
16 Independents.

The Independent candidates include three Nationalists, two Communists, one Prohibitionist and one Sinn Feiner.

Fick Wins Suit For Leave But Must Take It To Collect American Court Decides

Judge Lobingier Holds Employee Entitled To Vacation But Can Collect Passage And Salary Only After Return

Mr. Carl Fick, an employee of the American Commercial and Industrial Company, Ltd., is entitled to six months leave in Denmark with salary, according to a judgment handed down in the United States Court for China by Judge Charles S. Lobingier, and filed yesterday, but he must make the trip to Denmark and return again to Harbin in order to collect.

Judge Lobingier's decision was given in a suit in which Mr. Fick sued the American corporation for damages for refusing him leave on salary which had been promised him in an agreement with the company. To obtain the Tls. 1,314 for passage and salary of Yen 2,500, however, Mr. Fick must actually make the trip to Denmark and return to Harbin, Judge Lobingier ruled, as it is a settled rule of the Court that employees can only collect for leave if they avail themselves of the leave.

THE JUDGMENT

Judge Lobingier's complete judgment in the case, which is of considerable interest to all firms employing on contracts, and individuals employed on contracts, which include paragraphs concerning leaves, is as follows:

SYLLABUS

1. Employment: Leave granted in accordance with the mutual desire and understanding of employer and employee will not be treated as forfeited because unavailed of at a certain time, unless by express and unmistakeable agreement.

2. Id.: Id.: Passage money for such leave is not collectible until the employee is ready to take passage.

3. Id.: Id.: Salary during leave to be paid on return cannot be claimed earlier.

4. Id.: Id.: Waiver of leave privilege must be based upon clear and competent evidence.

Messrs. I. L. Landesman, R. T. Evans and Schuhl & Schoenfeld for plaintiff.

Messrs. Shoop & Chalaire, by Mr. Chalaire, for the defendant.

"From May, 1917, until March, 1923, plaintiff was employed by defendant and its predecessor, and sues to recover certain sums alleged to be due for passage money, salary and general balance. The answer is a general denial. The claim for salary and passage money is based on the following letter admitted to have been written by the defendant to the plaintiff:

Harbin, April 27th, 1921
Mr. Carl Fick,
Office,
Harbin.

Dear Mr. Fick, I have your letter of Nov. 30th, 1920—applying for Home leave to go to Denmark.

I have taken the matter up with our vice-president, Mr. C. Richter, and have pleasure in informing you that your request will be granted.

Owing to the deplorable conditions at present existing we think that it would be inadvisable to let you go this year, as we do not wish to take on any additional expense to have a man temporarily replace you.

Therefore your leave will be granted you for a period of six months during next year (1922).

We will defray your passage, first class to Denmark, to your home, and return to Harbin.

You will receive your salary in full for the period of four months during your absence and half salary for two months which you will receive on your return to Harbin.

The time of your leave will be from the approximate time

FOUR ARRESTED FOLLOWING BOLD DAYLIGHT THEFT

West Hongkew Detective Also Recovers $3,650 Of Loot

Four arrests and the recovery of $3,650 by the Municipal police followed closely in the wake of the sensational highway robbery of Monday, when a Shanghai-Nanking Railway shroff was dumped out of his ricsha and relieved of $23,900 by auto bandits early in the afternoon.

The arrests and recovery of the money were effected through the efforts of Chinese Detective Sergeant Lee Kwai, of Detective Inspector Prince's staff at West Hongkew Station. The motor car in which the five men who engaged in the robbery escaped, was traced to the Asia Garage, in Frenchtown, and with the description furnished by the chauffeur the detective started out. He shortly thereafter located the Chinese loafer engaged by the robbers to overthrow the ricsha. This man it developed had been arrested by West Hongkew police a few weeks ago for being in possession of fighting irons, but was dismissed by the Mixed Court. The police state that he is a well known loafer who sells his service as a "bruiser" to anyone who wants someone "beaten up." When arrested he was found to be in possession of $1,950. He confessed that he had received part of the spoils of the robbery. The loot was divided up, he said, out in the Hungjao Road district and he was given a parcel of money. He didn't know how much there was in the parcel.

With the additional information secured to work on the West Hongkew police threw out a cordon of detectives and early yesterday morning another member of the robber gang was arrested near the Boundary Road bridge as he was heading for Chinese territory. He had no money on him but from information which he let drop Detective Sergeant Lee was able to locate a house on Dixwell Road where an alleged accomplice was arrested and where the rest of the money recovered was found. This was concealed beneath the flooring of the hut.

The woman arrested, who lived in Chapel, is alleged to be the wife of one of the principals in the robbery—who has not yet been located. In her home was discovered an imitation pistol, which it is believed has been used in armed robberies.

Two of the men arrested have been identified by the shroff and by the motor car driver as having participated in the robbery. It is expected that other arrests will be made shortly.

LATIN UNION IN EUROPE TO RESULT FROM ROYAL VISIT

Italy And Spain Now In Complete Accord

OFFSET BRITISH

Alliance Would Mean New Balance In Mediterranean

Italian Wireless through Reuter

Rome, Nov. 22.—Their Spanish Majesties visit to Rome and particularly General De Rivera's conversations with Premier Mussolini seem to have resulted in a complete understanding between Italy and Spain. According to political circles this understanding will establish a "Unione Latina" or union of all Latin nations in Europe.

According to several declarations General De Rivera believes Signor Mussolini to be a man of destiny and seem to have entirely espoused the Fascists cause.

Intensification of Italian-Spanish friendship will bring a notable change in the Mediterranean situation, specially in view of the military alliance spoken of in certain circles in Madrid.

It has been said in the Roman newspapers that the Mediterranean is a Latin sea. They now affirm this opinion quite openly. For the time being Britain has more control in the Mediterranean than Latin nations. Gibraltar, Malta and Suez form a naval stronghold which gives Britain complete domination in that sea. The "Giornale d'Italia" voices the thought that an understanding between Italy and Spain will counter-balance the predominating British control. The same newspaper says that the "Firm union of the Italian and Spanish people in whose veins new life is flowing will lead to positive results."

It may therefore be concluded that King Alfonso's visit to the Vatican has been most successful.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 27.—Commenting on the visit of the King and Queen of Spain to Italy, the Matin points out that the Italian fleet is stronger than the French. The Spanish is relatively weak, but possesses first-class naval base in the Balearic Isles. It is vital for France, the Matin states, to secure communications with North Africa. The French fleet is no longer sufficient for national defence. France will probably have to choose between participating with the Latin countries in the Mediterranean policy and persisting in the policy based on agreement with England.

Chinese Woman Is Killed By Motorcycle

A motorcycle said to have been driven by Mr. C. B. Holt of the Public Works Department knocked down and fatally injured an old Chinese woman on the Broadway near Hwakee Road on Monday just before noon. The woman was struck when she attempted to cross the street in front of the machine and Mr. Holt stopped, picked her up in his side-car, and rushed her to St. Luke's Hospital, but she was dead upon arrival. An inquest was held in the Mixed Court yesterday afternoon which absolved Mr. Holt from blame.

Agents Of Cheka Invade Convent, Seize Nuns And Priest

(Reuter's Service)

Riga, Nov. 26.—The Soviet Government is apparently preparing a fresh anti-religious campaign.

Six agents of the Cheka, accompanied by Red soldiers, last night invaded premises in Moscow occupied by Dominican nuns who were just retiring to bed. The terrified nuns were assembled in one room and subjected to seven hours' interrogation, ridiculing their religious practices. The Mother Superior and a number of sisters were arrested and imprisoned. A priest and many of his parishioners were subsequently arrested.

Why Goat Glands?

Dr. Brinkley, Famous Gland-Grafter, Explains Theory Of Affinity Of Goat And Human Glands

BY LARRY LEHRBAS

Why goats?

When Dr. John R. Brinkley, the Kansas surgeon who earned the title of the 'Burbank of humanity' because of the numerous gland-grafting operations he has performed, and who is arriving in Shanghai on December 9 to perform several operations to rejuvenate old systems, first began his operations he was kidded to death.

"Why goats?" screamed all the humorous newspaper writers in America, and then proceeded to write columns about decrepit old men riding around in perambulators who received new glands and then suddenly began cavorting about like young colts in pasture, kicking up their heels in reckless abandon, using battered old tin cans for desert and otherwise completely upsetting the books on etiquette that tell grand-papas how to behave.

Dr. G. Frank Lydston, the famous Chicago surgeon who performed rejuvenation operations by transplanting the interstitial glands from another man to himself, and to other patients, never experimented except with human glands. Dr. Serge Voronoff of Paris used only monkey glands in such operations. Dr. Brinkley was the only surgeon—and still is, with the exception of those surgeons who have gone to his Kansas clinic and become his pupils—to use the glands of the goat in his little romance entitled "Vanquishing Crabbed Age".

When I first interviewed Doctor Brinkley following his first operations in Chicago I naturally asked him the question that everyone else was asking: "Why goats?"—and couldn't suppress a smile in doing it.

ANCESTRAL GOSSIP

Dr. Brinkley smiled good-naturedly in return and then proceeded to explain that science considered that the vital organs and cells of a goat were closer to man's than any other living animals, and that despite the fact that proponents of the Darwinian theory contend that man descended from apes. If our ancestors did swing by their tails from palm trees in such long past age, I inquired, why is there not a closer affinityship between monkey and man organs and cells than between man and goats, after whom only a small portion of humanity receives its family traits.

The goat, Dr. Brinkley repeated, has a striking resemblance in its vital organs and cells, to humans, but differs in an even more important respect, pathologically, in that it seemingly couldn't catch anything in the disease category. Scientifically speaking it is impervious to disease.

Just why the goat can go rambling around eating anything and everything and still not have

DISPUTE ARISES OVER PACT ON 12-MILE LIMIT

U. S. Department Of State And Treasury At Variance In Interpretations

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 26.—Interesting differences have arisen between the Treasury and the State Department in connection with the seizure of the British steamer, Tomako, yesterday. The Treasury contended that the capture was made under the new Anglo-American Agreement, the principle of which had been accepted by both Governments, but the State Department announced that this case was untenable and the schooner would be released unless the seizure could be justified on other grounds. The Treasury subsequently decided to proceed with the case on the charge of illegal landing of liquor in small boats.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 26.—The Foreign Office has up to the present not had news of the American capture of British ships, but it is pointed out that there have been cases in the past where British registries proved fraudulent. The negotiations with regard to the twelve-mile limit are still proceeding in Washington.

GREAT FLEET OF SHIPS TO BE USED ON GLOBE TOURS

First Of New Vessels Will Call Here On January 29

TO GO VIA SUEZ

115 Days Is Schedule For Complete Journey

Glowing with enthusiasm over the realisation of a life—time dream of having a constant stream of vessels carrying his own flag around the world in both directions, Captain Robert Dollar, grand old man of Pacific Coast shipping and chief owner of the Admiral-Oriental Line, the Robert Dollar Company and affiliated interests, arrived in Shanghai yesterday on the President Jackson.

Captain Dollar is preceding his new ships—taking the same path they will follow in the years to come—and making the final plans for the inauguration of the Dollar line's round-the-world freight and passenger service. After a short visit in Shanghai with Mr. J. Harold Dollar, his son, the Captain will go North, visiting Nanking, Tientsin, Peking and Hankow, and will then go on to Hongkong and Manila. Later he may go on to Singapore but his plans after Manila are still indefinite.

Captain Dollar, on his arrival here yesterday, was accompanied by Mr. J. Harold Dollar, who went to Japan to meet him.

Pride glistened in the genial old seafarer's eyes when he gave the details of the new round-the-world service.

"It's the first time it's ever been done," he exclaimed.

AN INNOVATION

"At the present time we have freighters going around the world, and beginning with the President Harrison, one of the new '522' type vessels we have recently purchased from the U. S. Shipping Board, which sails from San Francisco on January 5 and arrives here on January 29, we will have a globe-circling freight and passenger service in the opposite direction.

"Following the President Harrison the President Hayes will sail from San Francisco on February 2, and after that we will have sailings from New York to Havana, through the Panama Canal to Los Angeles, and then to San Francisco, Honolulu, and Kobe to Shanghai every two weeks. The first two ships to come have been on the run from the West coast of America to the East coast of South America. The Presidents Adams, Garfield, Van Buren, Polk and Monroe, before we purchased them, were operated by the United States Lines between New York and Europe.

"We expect that there will be a number of travellers who will leave the ships in Kobe, make the trip through Korea and North China overland, and rejoin the ships here.

THROUGH SUEZ

"From Shanghai the vessels will go to Hongkong, Manila, Singapore, Penang and Colombo. After Colombo the next stop will be at Suez where arrangements are being made to have train connections that will allow sight-seers to proceed by rail, visiting the Pyramids and other Egyptian wonders, and rejoin the ships at Alexandria. The ships will then sail through the Mediterranean, stopping a day at Naples, allowing passengers time to visit Rome and rejoin the ship at Genoa or Marseilles. From Marseilles will proceed to Boston and New York, completing a trip around the world in 115 days. The time between Shanghai and Boston will be under 60 days and we have every confidence of the service proving a great attraction to both tourists and commercial travellers."

Captain Dollar explained that the new vessels were all purchased from the U. S. Shipping Board, completely outfitted in every way with accommodations for 138 first class passengers, and some of the vessels have accommodations for 350 third-class passengers. At the present time, Captain Dollar said, the company was undecided as to what to do with the third class accomodations. The ships also have a greater cargo capacity than the other "Presidents" now running between Shanghai and American ports.

BUSINESS GOOD

"Business in the United States is good," Captain Dollar also said. "There is no boom on but a substantial, healthy improvement that is keeping up. One of the best indications of it is the surprisingly large number of homes that are being built. They are building homes from one end of the United States to the other. Every city and town and village is making up for the stoppage of building operations that occurred during the war by building homes as fast as they possibly can.

"We did not realise," he continued, "that there was an enormous shortage of houses during the war. Now the everyday American is building his own home which is making good business and laying a solid foundation for the future.

"Wheat, of course, is down and some of the farmers are complaining, but in general everything is prosperous. A few products are down but the others are away up and the general average of prosperity is high. Look at cotton, or corn! They more than make up for the low price of wheat. Business, I repeat, is good."

SHIPPING BAD

Captain Dollar was not so optimistic concerning the shipping business, however. At the present time the supply of ships is much greater than the demand, he said, with the consequent slack business that always results from an excess of supply over demand.

"What is the Shipping Board going to do?"

"Nobody knows. They don't themselves," the Captain answered. "At the present time there is a lot of talk about selling the surplus ships—if they can—and if they can't they say the government will go into the shipping business. But no one knows just what they are going to do. Eventually, of course, it will all be cleared up someway and then shipping will come back to its own."

MONDAY'S DINNER

Captain Dollar will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given in the New Carlton Cafe on December 3 by the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Association.

Final arrangements for the dinner were made yesterday at a meeting of the American Association, the Chamber having already placed its 'okeh' on the plans.

The dinner will be held at 8:15 o'clock on next Monday and will be limited to members of the two organisations and their gentlemen guests. Captain Dollar will deliver an appropriate address on the occasion. Reservations may be made now with Mr. D. J. Lewis, secretary of the Chamber, in the Dollar building.

Woman Educator Returns To S'hai

MISS Y. T. ZEE

Miss Y. T. Zee returned to Shanghai on the steamer President Jackson yesterday after two years' study in the United States. She secured her M. A. degree from Columbia University last summer. Specialising on the line of education, she is planning to aid in the development of female education in this country.

Miss Zee is a native of Kunshan and a graduate of the first class of Ginling College, Nanking. Before she went to America, she had taught in the Southeastern University, Nanking and the Teachers College for Girls, Peking. With this experience and her training in the States, she is expected to work her way up as one of the foremost woman educators in China.

Foreign Advisor Presents Definite Disarmament Plan

Will Reduce National Army To One Third Of Present Strength

Peking, November 26.—A concrete plan for national disarmament has been formulated by a foreign advisor and presented in a memorandum filed today with General Tsao Kun for acceptance. Under the suggestion, A disarmament commission with Tsao as the president and General Wu Pei-fu, Chi Shih-yuan, Feng Yu-hsiang and Hsiao Yao-nan as Vice-presidents will be organised to carry out the disbandment.

The advisor points out that for every division disarmed, the nation would save $1,500,000 yearly. Only 50 of the 150 divisions now in existence need to be retained for national defense, thus China may utilise $150,000,000 for industrial and constructive purposes.

Two years' saving from disarmament, which will be $300,000,000, the memorandum said, would be sufficient to carry out the whole of the Hwei River Conservancy work as well as constructing all the main national railways and roads, from which the government will be benefitted by enormous sums of revenues and for which over half a million soldier laborers could be employed.

It was further pointed out that China need not go to war with any other country for the next 20 years, during which the maintainance of 50 divisions of troops would be amply sufficient for the suppression of bandits.

The note concludes by saying that the defeat of Li Yuan-hung was caused by his incapability to carry out his promises, which the present administration is in a position to carry out. If some constructive measures are carried, Peking may yet win back the dissenting provinces back to its fold, the message said.

Correspondent Goes To Manila To Get Facts

Mr. Richard V. Oulahan, Washington correspondent for the New York Times and dean of newspapermen at the American capital, arrived in Shanghai on the President Jackson yesterday. Mr. Oulahan is en route to Manila to make an investigation of present conditions in the Islands with particular reference to the agitation there for independence. Mr. Oulahan is an old time friend of Captain W. I. Fisler of the United States Shipping Board and U. S. Marshal Thurston Porter and during his stop-over in Shanghai is visiting with them.

GERMAN RAIL CARS SEIZED BY BELGIANS

Confiscation Follows Failure To Pay Fines

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, Nov. 26.—The German Government not having satisfactorily replied to the ultimatum requiring payment of a fine of 1,250,000 francs and compensation in respect of the murder of the Belgian Lieutenant Graff last year, the Belgian Government today seized rolling stock about to be delivered to the German Government by factories at Duisburg and Hamborn and also placed an embargo on the whole of the Railway carriages and wagons. The seized material will be held until the total fine is paid off.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 26.—The Temps believes that the authority of General von Seeckt may come out stronger from the present crisis.

Details are given of the terms of the agreement with the industrialists, which is valid until April, 1924. The value of all deliveries in kind will be placed to the account of the Reparations Commission in accordance with the terms of the Treaty, whilst the taxes will serve to defray the expenses of the exploitation of the pledges and the net balance will be paid to the Reparations Commission for the credit of Germany in conformity with the Treaty.

The Ruhr newspapers welcome with satisfaction the signing of the agreements by the Rhineland industrialists as a means of avoiding disorders which would have been started by the unemployed, whose doles have been stopped by the Government of the Reich. The Koelner Tageblatt declares: "M. Poincare has gained a great victory. The instigator of the occupation of the Ruhr has triumphed all along the line, and his unshakeable optimism that sooner or later the occupation of the Ruhr would become a source of revenue for the Allies has just been startlingly confirmed since in a few months the mining production of the Ruhr will have returned to the level of January 1923 and the Allied revenue in the industrial basin will exceed 2,000,000 tons and 50,000,000 francs per month."

Havas reports that negotiations at Bonn between certain French and Belgian financial groups and German groups for the creation of a Rhineland bank of issue are progressing favorably.

The Licence Committee on November 24 concluded the following agreements: (1) with the Badische Anilin Gemeinschaft for nitrate fertilisers and (2) with the Solingen cutlery industry in the British zone, which employs 40,000 workers, 30,000 of whom, however, are now unemployed. Finally the sugar industries are asking to conclude an arrangement of a similar nature. The agreement with the Solingen company is interesting because the firm is situated outside the French and Belgian zone.

Bulgar Officials Placed On Trial On Treason Charge

London, Nov. 26.—Trial of the members of the former Stamboulisky cabinet for high treason has been opened at Sofia, according to reports received here today from the Bulgarian capital.

New German Chancellor Director Of Propaganda Before U. S. Entered War

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 26.—Herr Heinrich Albert, the new Chancellor, was Treasurer in the Cuno Ministry. As an official of the Ministry of the Interior he organised the German section of the St. Louis Exhibition in 1904. He was Count von Bernstorff's Commercial Attache in Washington and principal agent of German propaganda from 1914 till the United States entry into the hostilities.

Herr Albert is a Magdeburger and has just entered his fiftieth year.

President Ebert, by commissioning Herr Albert, has apparently reverted to the idea of having his Cabinet officials specialists without distinctive party coloring.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 26.—The new German Chancellor, Herr Albert, does not appear to be a position to form a Cabinet of a very different complexion from that of Dr. Stresemann. The appointment of the former chief of German propaganda in the United States has caused a certain amount of embarrassment in American circles in Berlin.

(Reuter's Service)

Cologne, Nov. 26.—Four rioters were killed and 22 injured at Gelsenkirchen today in collisions arising from the looting of 150 shops. Three were killed and many wounded at Rotthausen. Looting also occurred in a number of other towns in the Ruhr. Several anti-separatists were killed in a collision with separatists at Buren.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 26.—The Senate Committee of Foreign Affairs today heard a statement by the Premier on the foreign situation, particularly the results of the occupation of the Ruhr.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 26.—The newspapers forecast that as a result of the recent hearing of the German delegates, the Reparations Commission will tomorrow have to examine the French proposal for the formation of a committee of experts to estimate the present capacity for payment of Germany.

FIVE ARRESTED IN BIG OPIUM CASE ARE GIVEN BAIL

Italian Assessor Allows Defendants $2,000 Security Each

The five Chinese arrested when the police made the $50,000 haul of opium at 121 Canton Road Monday were brought up in the Mixed Court again yesterday when Mr. L. K. Kentwell, appearing for them, made application for bail to Italian Assessor Ferrajolo and Magistrate Loh.

In making the application Mr. Kentwell admitted that opium had been found in the premises, but said that the defendants were not the principals in the case. He also stated that this was a case of opium selling and that it was an everyday occurrence and a minor offense and suggested that $500 was sufficient bail.

The application was opposed by the police and Sub-Inspector Hermitage pointed out to the Court that this was one of the biggest seizures made here in some time and that the place was evidently a large wholesale depot for opium distribution. He suggested $5,000 bail apiece for the accused, and remarked that they could find $5,000 as easily as they could find $500.

The Court ordered $2,000 cash bail for each of the five accused and the case was adjourned.

Why Goat Glands?

to be vaccinated against smallpox or take dysentery treatments still baffles the doctors and is still uder study.

GASTRONOMIC DAREDEVILS

The goat, as is well known, is a gastronomic daredevil and always chows where others fear to chew. It has been accredited since the time of Adam with having a fondness for tin cans, the older and dirtier, the better. It takes unctuous delight in masticating any clothing that happens to be hanging on clothes-lines anywhere within its radious of chowing operations. It literally and actually takes more chances with the food it eats, or tries to eat, than any other animal. Even a rat will turn up its nose at improperly perfumed soap.

Granting all this the goat should catch any one, or several, of the usual diseases prevalent in animal circles, or even the mumps, toothache or tummy-ache at least every other day. Science, however, has discovered that goats cast off disease germs like a duck does water off its back. Briefly stated the scientific theories are that either the goat has a much stronger digestive apparatus in its interior scheme of things, more digestive enzymes than man, or bigger and more warlike enzymes, in addition to the fact that it unquestionably possesses a fungus gland which exudes a brand of pepsin that would be a best-seller in any drug store, or all of those.

PEPPY ELECTRONS

Dr. Brinkley claims that goat glands are the most logical glands to transplant because the goat possesses in its cells the largest amount of radio-activity known to exist in any human or animal. The atoms composing these cells, Dr. Brinkley says, consist of unnumbered electrons which give off exceptionally strong rays of what corresponds to radium emanation. Goat glands, according to the noted surgeon, are made up of billions of such electrons and it is the radiumized energy they give off which rejuvenate and re-pep the human system when they are introduced through the medium of a transplanted gland.

Shortly after the first announcement of Dr. Brinkley's phenomenal success in gland-grafting the medical market in the United States was flooded with preparations claiming to be derived from goat-glands which were extensively advertised as having the same rejuvenation properties when taken as a tonic in liquid or powder form. Investigations by some health departments in large cities disclosed that in some cases the alleged 'youth restorers' were simply and plainly fakes with no qualities such as they claimed whatever. In several cases the quack preparations were nothing more than glands, such as are used in the gland-grafting, ground up in powder form or ground up and diluted in liquids.

OLD STUFF HERE

A walk through any of the streets in Shanghai, and particularly in the Chinese City, will reveal numerous medical shops at which similar preparations are on sale. The Chinese, almost from the time Dr. Brinkley made his first operation, became "wise" to the untold possibilities in the field and began making their own goat-gland patent medicines and extracts to take the place of, and supposedly do the same work as the living goat-glands.

Dr. Brinkley, four years ago, emphasized that he should in no way be held accountable for such preparations. His contention was that, in order to rejuvenate the human system it was necessary to graft living goat glands to living human glands and then let nature work out the revivifying radiumized rays in its own way and its own time. Rejuvenation, he claims, cannot be forced by taking internal preparations. Living glands must be united with living glands.

Matty Smith Agrees To Meet Either Billy Tingle Or Garcia In Title Bout

Agreement With Sam Davis To Take On Winner Of Next Week's Contes ; Friday's Show Looks Good

By Westa

Matty Smith will meet either Billy Tingle or Lenardo Garcia in a boxing contest at the New Carlton two weeks from Friday. Garcia and Tingle have been matched for a battle to decide the featherweight championship a week from Friday, and Matty will take on the winner the following week.

An agreement to this effect was signed in the CHINA PRESS office last evening, Matty and Sam Davis, the Carlton matchmaker, being the contracting parties. It took them a long time to come to terms, but they finally attached their John Hancocks to the necessary papers.

This ought to be the best boxing dish ever offered to the customers in this township. Matty has felt for some time that somebody—he hasn't known exactly who—has been trying to force a large chunk of unpalatable cold crow down his throat while the other leather pushers now in our midst had their mugs buried to the ears in the juiciest pie ever concocted in Louie Kadow's kitchen, and he made no bones about letting the world and all way stations know that he was sore about it.

He was so sore about it that when Sam asked him last night what his terms for a bout were he replied that his first stipulation was that boxing gloves should be barred.

"You wish to fight with bare knuckles?" Sam asked.

"No—hatcasts," replied Matty.

Sam was not discouraged however, particularly when he saw that Matty was willing to fight on any terms, and so came back at him with a counter proposition. It was an hour or so before Matty could be weaned away from the hatchet idea, but he finally began to yield.

Well, the two of them wrangled all over the office for a matter of two hours, at the end of which time they had arrived at the dotted line stage. After that it was easy sailing.

Matty thinks he can knock either Garcia or Billy Tingle for a double row of ash cans. Garcia and Billy, needless to say, entertain quite different ideas on the subject, and that difference of opinion, if you ask me, is the thing that is going to make this a bear of a battle.

In the meantime Sam Davis and the Carlton management are going ahead with arrangements for Friday night's show, which will include a wrestling match between a Russian and an Indian to decide the championship of China (if you can figure that out) along with a boxing card that in itself offers a fine evening's entertainment.

De Dios and Tigora, who will appear in one of the boxing battles, have met before, and will put up their customary peppery scraps. In the other events Nic Boyle will meet Favacho for the welterweight title, and this ought to be a great scrap. They have never met before, nor have Toledo and Kyko, who are also on the card. Those two scraps alone would make a card.

FUH TAN AND ST. JOHN'S WIN AT BASKETBALL

Second Contest Real Thriller, With Winning Score In Last Minute

In a doubleheader last night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium the Fuh Tan basketball team beat the All-Black quintet while the Amateurs met defeat in the hands of the St. John's players, in the championship series of the Chinese Basketball League.

The Fuh Tan All-Blacks game was a one-sided affair, Fuh Tan leading right through the game.

The left forward of Fuh Tan, F. L. Woo, opened the scoring for his team, and Wong, who played a brilliant game as running guard, soon followed with another goal with a long shot. Feng of the All-Blacks returned with a good shot, but Fuh Tan soon netted two goals successively. At the interval the score was 14 to 5.

After lemon time the Black team tried hard to even up the score, but the Fuh Tan defense made all their attempts futile. The game ended with a 32-14 score.

The second game last night was more interesting and exciting than the curtain raiser, as it showed more form in passing and shooting. It was fast and spectacular. The score was so close toward the end that the last goal of St. John's proved the deciding one.

It was the tough luck for the Amateurs to lose the match. They led at recess time by 32 to 15, and it looked as they would cop easily. But the second half turned the table, due principally to the hard up-hill fight of the St. John's players and partly to the over-confidence of the Amateurs. If the latter had played a little harder the result of the game might have been different.

Only about five seconds after the first whistle was blown, the Amateurs had scored first goal. C. G. Hoh netted the basket after two or three passes among his forwards. Hoh was in great form last night, as he made seven goals in the first half. He nearly scored every chance he had, and he wasted only a few shots. Tyau also succeeded in scoring three times while Wu and Yuen each contributed two goals.

But the second half told a different tale. The St. John's men who seemed to miss every chance at the basket before recess time, now piled up points rapidly. With about only five minutes to play they tied the score at 35 to 35. Then each team ran wild with everyone eager to secure the winning points. It was at this time that one of the St. John's men fell down on the floor upon his own fault and was knocked unconscious a moment later, two of the Amateur players were taken out of the game because of personal fouls. That score stood, however, for about four minutes without change. It was in the very last minute that F. C. Tsang scored the winning goal for the St. John's team.

Both games were referred by Mr. Hines, center of the Yankee team in the Foreign Basketball League. He gave fair decisions which satisfied players and spectators.

RECORD CROWD SEES ARMY-NAVY BATTLE TO DRAW

Series Now Even, With 12 Victories To Credit Of Each

(EXCLUSIVE CHINA PRESS)

New York, Nov. 25 (delayed).—The Army and Navy football teams fought each other to a standstill in the mire of the Polo Grounds yesterday before the greatest crowd in the history of their classic battles. Neither goal line was crossed in the most bitterly contested battle that the rivals have ever engaged in, neither side getting nearer than the 25 yards line to the enemy goal.

The Army center kicked wide of the goal in the second quarter and Barecket, after returning an intercepted pass 40 yards, failed in an attempted kick from the 35-yard line. It was the only chance either side had to score in the game.

Yesterday's 0 to 0 battle is the second time in the history of the Army-Navy contests that the score has ended in a zero tie, and leaves the teams deadlocked with 12 victories each and two ties after twenty-six contests.

The West Pointers earned five first-downs to four for the midshipmen, but the Annapolis eleven gained 110 yards in rushing as against 109 yards by the cadets.

(EXCLUSIVE CHINA PRESS)

Cambridge, Nov. 25—(delayed)—Yale scored its first victory over Harvard since 1916 yesterday when the Blue won by a score of 13 to 0 in a game played in a drizzling rain and deep mud.

Neither team could attack to advantage but Yale took advantage of several muffs by Crimson players. Pond scored Yale's first touchdown on a sixty yards run down the field after a Crimson fumble, and Captain Mallery was responsible for the Blue's other six points.

The Blue's victory over their hereditary enemy kept their record clear for the year—they did not lose a game—and gave Yale the Big Three Championship.

(Exclusive China Press)

Chicago, Nov. 25 (delayed).—Illinois and Michigan tied for the Big Ten Championship yesterday, each closing the season with a clean record of wins. In the final games yesterday the Illini defeated Ohio State 9 to 0, and Michigan sent Minnesota back to Minneapolis on the short end of a 10 to nothing score, Wisconsin, the closest contender, at the same time went down to defeat before Chicago, 13 to 6.

BANTAM CHAMP LOSES TITLE IN BOUT AT LONDON

Johnny Brown, Challenger, Is Victor In Boxing Match

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 26.—At the National Sporting Club tonight in a 20-round bout for the Bantamweight Championship of Europe and Britain Johnny Brown of St. George's beat Bugler Lake (the holder) on points.

(Reuter's Service)

Bugler Lake, who weighed 8 stone 4½ lbs. to Brown's 8 stone 5 lbs., was favorite at the start.

Brown won the first round but then the Bugler began to forge ahead and led on points at the half-way stage.

In the fourteenth round Lake floored Brown and near the end of the round shook him with a left and right.

In the last four rounds, however, Brown attacked fiercely and had the better of matters, winning by a narrow margin.

Hongkong, Nov. 27.—Upon receipt of a cable from their head office promising a satisfactory settlement, the Japanese staff of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha have resumed their duties.

St. John's Defeats Nanking 'U', 1—0

The football team of St. John's University defeated the University of Nanking last Saturday on the latter's ground by a narrow margin of one to nil. The score was 0 to 0 at the end of play time, and both teams agreed to play off the game with an extra period of twenty minutes in which the Saints got their winning goal.

The game was rather slow and dull. Nanking showed good individual work but very poor team work. Although the defence of the visiting team was pretty strong, the forward line also lacked good combination. Both teams style.

SZECHUEN REEKS WITH OPIUM NOW MISSIONARIES SAY

West China Conference Protests To Province Governors

Citing facts that opium is again being openly grown in Szechuen province, that it is openly smoked everywhere, and that it is publicly taxed the Advisory Committee of the West China Missions Conference has addressed communications to the Tuchun and Civil Governor of Szechuen calling his attention to the abuses and requesting that they take immediate steps to remedy them.

At the same time the missionary board charges that various officials in the province have forced the farmers to plant the poppy so that they could enlarge their "squeeze," and that many of the tribesmen throughout the province have secured rifles in return for opium and have turned bandit, terrorizing the countryside.

The letter, signed by Mr. Thomas Torrance of the American Bible Society, Mr. Kenneth B. Beaton of the Canadian Methodist Mission, and Mrs. Esther B. Lewis of the Methodist Episcopal Mission, North, reads as follows:

"To their Honors, the Governors of the Province of Szechuen.

"The members of the West China Missions Advisory Board representing the Missionary Societies at work in Szechuan, respectfully beg leave to present the following memorandum in regard to opium.

"The evils of the opium traffic are so universally recognized that we do not need to dwell upon them. The heroic efforts put forth by China to suppress the evil after the Opium Convention with Great Britain, which cut off the supply of Indian opium, received, as they deserved, the unstinted admiration of the world. So far as Szechuan is concerned they almost resulted in the suppression of the traffic. Lah Beh Djin and his Yunnanese troops re-introduced opium into our province, and since then the ramifications of the evil have been constant and extensive, until now (1923) opium is grown widely, is publicly taxed, and smoked openly everywhere on both the land and river routes of travel. In fact it is no secret that opium dens are licensed, and one city which can be cited, is said to have a revenue of fifteen hundred dollars a month from this source alone. A new generation of opium users is being developed, and unless strenuous efforts are at once put forth to stamp out the traffic, Szechuan will soon be hopelessly enslaved.

MAKES BANDITS

"Some instances may be cited to show how extensive and pernicious are the evils of the opium traffic. The Lifan magistrate this year forced the people there to grow opium, and those who refused were fined as high as fifty or sixty dollars. The five chiefs of the Tang tribesmen refused and he put two of them and the son of another in prison. The Tang soldiers had to enter Lifan to secure their release. In collecting the opium tax the extortion was so great on the poor mountain farmers that they became exasperated and in the trouble that followed the Twan Dzung named Tong at Tonghua lost his life.

"Many of the tribesmen now have rifles which they have secured from the Chinese in exchange for opium. The Heh-Shui tribe have, fifteen hundred modern rifles all secured in this way, and they have been terrorizing their neighbours on every side for two years. Last year the Lolos were reported to have burned fourteen Chinese villages, and to have killed fourteen hundred Chinese with rifles also obtained in exchange for opium.

"It is no secret that opium was grown extensively in the Suifu District this Spring, and the taxes collected were enormous. The rate of taxation, six dollars per hundred ounces, produced at Ngan Bien village an alleged revenue of Three Hundred Dollars per day during the busy season; at Hwen Chang fifty li from Suifu, on the Yunnan Road, Two Hundred Thousand Dollars yearly is the reported revenue, while at Luchow a minimum of Four Hundred Dollars and a maximum of Three Thousand Dollars was said to be the daily toll. Such facts and such revenues are of themselves alarming in the highest degree.

ASKS AID

"While we cite these instances as symptomatic of conditions throughout the province, we are well aware that where military and civil officials are united and determined in their opposition to opium it can be and is being suppressed. We recognise the great difficulty of adequate law enforcement in the present chaotic condition of the country, but we respectfully beseech the Governors of Szechuen for the sake of China's international good name, and for the sake of the millions of drug addicts, to institute an energetic, powerful and adequate campaign this year to prevent the growing, smoking, and trafficking in opium within this province. We wholeheartedly pledge ourselves and the institutions we represent to throw the whole weight of our moral influence into any wise effort to save the people whom we serve from this ever increasing menace to their material and ethical advancement.

"Whatever be the method of repression adopted by the Government we would respectfully suggest that the issuing of proclamations by itself has in the past proved quite ineffective. Measures should be taken to see that civil and military officials do not evade their superiors' orders. Nothing short of the complete stoppage of the growth of the poppy, the closing of opium dens, and the strict prohibition of trade in opium will serve to rid the province of this vexatious evil.

Signed on behalf of the Advisory Board of the West China missions.

Thomas Torrance.

PARLIAMENT TO TAKE HAND IN PEACE EFFORTS

Delegation Will Carry Olive Branch From Peking To Mukden

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 27.—Owing to the final breakdown of the proposal to hold a conference at Shanhaikuan between the representatives of the Central Government and Marshal Chang Tso-lin through Marshal Chang's demand for the restoration of Suaiyuan, Chahar and Jehol to the Manchurian administration, Parliament has come forward with a new scheme.

A group of members have formed themselves into a general committee and have deputed Mr. Li Tsu-kuei to proceed to Mukden to discuss the possibility of reconciliation with Marshal Chang Tso-lin himself. If Mr. Li's mission is successful, a party of Members of Parliament will meet representatives of the Provincial Assemblies of the Three Eastern Provinces at Mukden with the object of drawing up the terms of an agreement.

Mr. Li Tsu-kuei and other Manchurian Members of Parliament appear sanguine of good results while the Provincial Assemblies are eagerly co-operating in the scheme whereby an understanding would be reached through the representatives of the people instead of official channels, which have hitherto failed. In this connection it is important to remember that Marshal Chang Tso-lin holds office nominally through appointment by the Provincial Assemblies.

For two years before her debut in motion pictures, Miss Davies was the leading musical comedy favorite of New York. Her exquisite daintiness and peculiar charm soon attracted the attention of motion picture magnates and after much persuasion the lovely Miss Davies consented to abandon her stage work for a career on the screen. And in "THE BURDEN OF PROOF" she played at her best.

DR. BIEDERWOLF TO GIVE CLOSING ADDRESS TODAY

Miss Saxe Also To Give Talk This Afternoon

The second address of the series by Dr. Biederwolf in the Navy Y.M.C.A. was listened to with intense interest by a large audience. The subject was, "How did Jesus Christ get here?", and the question was answered by the Bible statements regarding His incarnation and virgin birth. The first address was on the subject, "Who was Jesus Christ?" The two subjects announced for Tuesday afternoon and evening were, "What did He do Here?" and "Where did He go?".

Dr. Biederwolf and his party will remain in Shanghai over Wednesday and he will conclude the series with the subject, "Will Jesus Christ come back here again?".

"The hardest proposition the infidel has to face", said Dr. Biederwolf," is the person and character of Jesus Christ. No one has ever approached Him. He is in a class all by Himself. He has no second. Isaiah called Him 'Wonderful', and there's no better name that could be given Him. He is the world's one perfect man. But He was evidently more than a mere man. If He was only a man, then by every law of progress, by every form of evolution, by every code of common sense, this twentieth century should have produced a greater and a better man.

"The only clue to the origin of this wonderful personality is in the record which we have in the Bible of His incarnation and His birth of the Virgin. Although there are some men today, just as there have been in all ages since His own day, when His neighbors said 'Is not this the son of Joseph the carpenter', who question the fact of His virgin birth, I would remind you that the vast majority of Christians in all lands still do, without any mental reservations whatever, 'I believe in Jesus Christ, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary'.

"Now what does the Incarnation mean? It means that when Christ came into this world He came with two natures, a human and a divine one, and this was brought about by the miraculous manner of His birth. Oh, you say the thing was impossible. But nothing is impossible with God. If God could perform one miracle, He could perform a hundred just as hard, or harder, if anything can be counted hard with God. Some men are awfully afraid of the supernatural. You say you can't understand how the human and the divine could unite to make a person out of Christ. Well, can you understand how oxygen and hydrogen unite and make the air which you breathe? Or can you understand how oxygen and hydrogen unite and make the water that you drink? Can you even understand how your body and your soul unite and make yourself? You say it was not necessary for Christ to be born in this miraculous manner. Don't you think it takes an infinite amount of conceit for insignificant creatures such as we are to stand up and say what was necessary or what was not necessary for the great God of heaven to do to manifest Himself in human flesh in order to redeem such miserable lost sinners as we are?

"This doctrine of the virgin birth is in the Bible and that ought to be enough for us, if we have any respect for the Bible, and we should put up our scissors. It is in every Greek manuscript and version. It was necessary for Christ to be virgin born in order to be a sinless Saviour. It is only necessary for you, Mr. Objector, to properly adjust your mental bearings and this thing will not seem so impossible or unthinkable to you.

"Finally, let us ask the most important question, 'Why was Jesus born into this world?' In First John 3rd chapter and 8th verse we have the answer, 'For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil'. I tell you that is the sweetest story this old world ever heard."

Mr. Rodeheaver was the guest of the American Club for tiffin, Tuesday noon. He has also provided a musical treat for the students of St. John's University and the Shanghai College, and other members of the party have visited other schools and missions.

Miss Grace Saxe, the noted Bible Teacher who has conducted Bible Classes numbering several thousands in connection with 'Billy' Sunday's great evangelistic campaigns in America, is to address a special mass meeting in the Union Church Hall, at 5 p.m., today. Although this meeting was announced as being for women only, it is now announced that men also will be welcome.

It is hoped that the delay in the sailing of the steamer on which the party are to leave for Hongkong and Manila, enroute to Australia, where they are to have a three months' campaign, will make it possible for them to be present at the Thanksgiving Service in Holy Trinity Cathedral on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 27, 1923

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price was unchanged and the London-New York cross rate advanced to 438½.

Our official Sterling rate here was raised to 3s. 3¼d., the Gold Dollar rate to 71¾, the Yen rate dropped to 67½ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market at the opening was easy, steadied up somewhat during the day but wased off again at the close. The highest rates at which business in Sterling was done were 3s. 3⅜d. November, 3s. 3⅛d. December and 3s. 2⅛d. January.

The highest rates for Gold Dollars were 72⅝ November, 71½ December and 71 January delivery.

At the close, however, there were good buyers at these rates with sellers of Sterling at ⅛d. and of Gold Dollars at ¼ point lower. There were sellers of Yen at the close at 66½ November, 67½ December and 68¼ January.

Banks were quoting 3s. 4d. and 73½ for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills for December delivery and 3s. 3½d. and 73 for forward. There were buyers of Franc bills at 1340 for December and 1330 for forward delivery.

China sold silver in London yesterday and the market is reported as steady. New York report their market as easy with little demand.

Fick Wins Suit For Leave But Must Take It To Collect American Court Decides of your leaving Harbin to the time of your return.

S. THATCHER
General Manager.
American Commercial and Industrial Co. Ltd.
(Ex. A.)

"It is conceded that plaintiff did not take his leave during 1922, but was sent, instead, to Siberia to take charge of defendant's agencies there and the contention appears to be that plaintiff waived his right to leave. We do not think, however, that a fair construction of the letter restricts plaintiff's privilege to the year 1922. For plaintiff is first informed that "Your request will be granted" and while it is later stated that it will be granted "during next year," (1922), we construe that as merely a substitution for plaintiff's request for immediate leave.

"The letter does not state, and we do not think it can be fairly construed to mean, that plaintiff was required to take his leave during 1922 or not at all. Nor do we find any satisfactory evidence of a waiver by plaintiff of this privilege. In fact waiver is not pleaded. In his letter of March 14, 1923, (Ex. 1) he expressly renews his claim for leave and while there is some evidence of doubtful admissibility—as to an alleged settlement between the parties, there is nothing which would justify a finding that the leave privilege was actually waived.

"According to a letter from the East Asiatic Co., Ltd. the "Cost of one complete first class passage . . . . to Copenhagen and return amounts to . . . . . Mex. 1314.30." It is, however, the settled rule of this Court that an employee is entitled to the amount of such passage only when he is ready to avail himself of the privilege. (1)

"The salary guaranteed by the letter during leave would amount to Yen. 2,600, it being conceded that plaintiff was then receiving Yen. 520 per month. But this was to be paid only "on your return to Harbin." We can see a reason for this proviso. At the time plaintiff had been in defendant's employ for four years and it was apparently expected that he would continue indefinitely, but unless he should return from leave the employment would necessarily cease. Moreover the entire leave privilege was for the employer's benefit as well as for the employee's, it being reasonable to expect that the latter's efficiency and capacity would thereby be increased. But it would be of benefit to defendant only in case of defendant's return.

"As to the general balance of account plaintiff submitted a statement (Ex. B.) and defendant a copy of its ledger (Ex. 3.) The latter is objected to "as not the best evidence and not properly certified." But defendant's manager and bookkeeper made oath as to its correctness and for the use which we shall make of it we think it need not be treated as other than an admission by defendant. For there is little, if any difference between the accounts as to the debit items, which in plaintiff's version aggregate Yen. 6,028.70.

"The credit items are likewise the same in both statements with the exception of two, plaintiff claiming an item of Yen. 1,000 on a note due from one Guachmann and conceded to have been placed in Judgment, and another item of Yen. 430 for interest. Eliminating these two the general balance of Yen. 6,471.83 is the same in both accounts and exceeds the debit balance by Yen 443.13 in plaintiff's favor As to the other two items just mentioned, there is no evidence that defendant has collected any portion of the note in question and its offer to assign plaintiff that portion of the judgment recovered was formally accepted in open Court. Plaintiff's right to the item of Yen. 430 for interest does not seem to be established, plaintiff admitting that there was no agreement to that effect, and the balance being in excess of the proper interest, even had the balance been agreed upon.

"It is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff have and recover from defendant:

(1) The sum of Yen 443.13 together with costs.

(2) The further sum of Mex. $1314 to be paid upon plaintiff's announcement to defendant of his readiness to take passage for Denmark in accordance with the agreement.

(3) The further sum of Yen. 2,600 to be paid upon defendant's return to Harbin from Denmark.

(4) And that defendant assign to plaintiff the latter's entire interest to the extent of Yen. 1,000 in the judgment recovered by defendant against the said Gauchmann."

In this model, attention has been paid to beauty as well as utility. The illustration does not do justice to the design. It is neat and simple, yet looks well in the most elaborate drawing room.

This stove is made of very heavy cast-iron with nickel-plated facings and foot rests. The doors in front and sides are fitted with mica, giving a large area of glow. Every part is perfectly fitted, and finished with high class workmanship.

There are many advantages in the construction of this model.

FORMAMINT
THE GERM KILLING THROAT TABLET

If you Suffer from "Smoker's Throat"

—or other painful irritations of the oral cavity you should at once use FORMAMINT.

"In both acute and chronic pharyngitis, induced by abuse of tobacco, Formamint Tablets have proved particularly efficacious in the hands of the medical profession," writes the Medical Press.

Sucking these palatable, harmless tablets promotes an abundant flow of saliva, which itself is rendered germicidal. Thus the whole mouth and throat are slowly saturated with a soothing, healing antiseptic fluid, which penetrates everywhere.

With the destruction of the causative bacteria, swelling and inflammation subside, and Nature does the rest—without the fuss and trouble of old-fashioned methods like gargling or painting the throat with caustic and nauseating chemicals.

Canton's Troubles

CONFLICTING reports from Canton during the past week indicate that a decisive battle is pending which may decide the fate of one or the other of the two contenders for the control of China's southern metropolis. Although both Sun Yat-sen and General Chen Chiung-ming have their active partisans, we imagine there will be an almost unanimous sigh of relief on the part of Cantonese generally when the fratricidal fight is finished regardless of whether Dr. Sun or General Chen is the victor. According to the latest news the fight has narrowed down to the suburbs of Canton and although some fighting is in progress both sides are waiting for reinforcements. Dr. Sun is waiting for reinforcements supposed to be on the way from Hunan under the command of General Tan Yen-kai while General Chen Chiung-ming was reported in Swatow for a consultation with General Wang Ta-wei and Admiral Wen. Whether the importation of Hunanese troops into Canton will add further complications to the already serious situation created by Dr. Sun's importation of Yunnanese troops is hard to determine from this distance.

The situation which has been created in Canton because of the warfare between Dr. Sun and General Chen is hard for the person who has not been in Canton to imagine. Both Sun and Chen are members of the Kuomingtang party and this has given the fight largely the complexion of a family quarrel with all of the bitterness which such conflicts engender. It is difficult to find a Cantonese who is able to discuss the subject calmly and dispassionately. Regardless of the merits or demerits of the claims put forth by the contenders there is not much question regarding the disastrous effect which the struggle has produced in Canton nor much question that it will require a considerable number of years for Canton and South China to recover from the ruinous civil war.

During most of the struggle the city of Canton has been under the control of Dr. Sun Yat-sen who is styled the "generalissimo" while the actual administration of the city has been under the control of his son, Sun-fo, acting as mayor. General Chen has up to the last few days maintained his headquarters at Waichow, but recently transferred to the outskirts of Canton proper. Although little is known regarding the conditions in the territory controlled by General Chen, there is now available considerable information regarding the serious situation which the fight and its consequences have produced in Canton. The United Societies of Kwangtung, composed of the Chamber of Commerce of Canton, the Self-Government Society, the Merchants Public Peace Society, the Merchants Volunteer Corps and the Nine Charitable Guilds have recently issued a memorandum addressed to Dr. Sun which tells with considerable clearness the situation in Canton. The most important indictment has to do with the confiscation of land by the government in order to raise money for the prosecution of the war.

It seems that the present government through the office of the Government Property Bureau has declared that only title deeds bearing the stamp of the dynasties of Ch'ien Lung and Chia Ching are valid and therefore all title deads to land bearing the stamp of the second year of the Republic are invalid. Informers who, according to report, work on a commission basis, make secret investigations and where a title deed is found bearing the stamp of the Republic, the government sends a squad of soldiers and evicts the occupant of the land. If the occupant is fortunate he may have an opportunity to buy back his land and receive a title deed stamped by the present regime, but in most cases the result has been simply that of wholesale eviction for hundreds of families who supposed that the titles of their land were legal, "The evil, says the report," is as bad as a flood or ferocious beasts and the suffering is greater than the explosion of a volcano."

Another complaint which has been made is that of the filling in of a river, the Hai Chu, for an extension of the Bund, the purpose being to raise funds from the sale of land in the reclaimed area. The United Societies claim that this will result in the flooding of large sections of the city. And then there are further complaints dealing with the commandeering of launches and ferry boats which has had the effect of practically stopping the transportation of food products between the city and the interior. This has also had the effect of practically killing Canton's prosperous foreign trade. The impressment of coolies into the armies and for use in the carrier traffic behind the army has also brought distress. Squads of soldiers simply parade the streets and seize any coolies they come across and send them to the front. "The number of coolies impressed," says the report, "are greater than the death roll of the earthquake in Japan."

The same report also devotes considerable attention to the revival of opium smoking and gambling "which flourish to the detriment of custom and to the shame of the government. Opium dens are as numerous as the trees of the forest and smoking is publicly practiced. Gambling of all sorts fills the streets, and industry is at a standstill." The report concludes,

"The United Societies pray that explicit instructions be forthwith given that title deeds stamped in the Republican regime be accepted as sufficient evidence of ownership of land; that false informants be given the extreme penalty; that the work of filling the Hai Chu be suspended immediately and dredging work undertaken; that no further commandeering of launches be made so as to facilitate transportation; that impressment of coolies, opium smoking, gambling, road building causing further confiscation of property, and taxation in sundry forms be stopped by proclamation so as to conserve the energy of the people to their great happiness."

The blame for this sorry state of affairs in Canton has been placed pretty generally at the doors of the Yunnanese troops which were brought into Canton by Dr. Sun Yat-sen for the purpose of evening scores with General Chen, but regardless of who is responsible there is little question but that the present extreme methods adopted for raising funds for the internal provincial war have done a lot to injure the prestige of Dr. Sun not only at home but among the influential and wealthy Cantonese abroad who have always looked upon him as the leader of liberal, thought in the great fight for republicanism on the continent of Asia.

Regardless of that however, the fact remains that Canton apparently is on the verge of a decisive battle which may mean much in the general political situation in China. If Dr. Sun is successful and gains undisputed control of Canton, his threat to carry the war to the North against President Tsao Kun immediately ceases to be a matter of academic discussion and emerges into the realm of actualities. The support of Dr. Sun on the part of General Chang Tso-ling, the Mukden war-lord which has been more or less milk-warm up to the present, will, in the event of Dr. Sun's success, quite likely become an active force.

The same thing may happen in the case of the old Anfu elements, so a Sun victory at Canton now may mean a complete reopening of the war between North and South. A victory on the part of General Chen at Canton also provides grounds for interesting speculation, for the reason that General Chen although accepting help from General Wu Pei-fu and the Chihli party has nevertheless consistently refrained from expressing an undue fondness for President Tsao Kun and his political affiliations. A Chen victory doubtless would bring pleasure to the Northern camp, but it is extremely questionable whether it would make Kwangtung province any more amenable to the mandates of Peking than it has been for the last dozen years.

The British Elections

THE description of the British Tory party as a sort of periodical inebriate in the matter of Tariff Reform, is one of those apt shots which make the campaigning speeches of Mr. Lloyd George so much to be dreaded by his opponents. Many years have passed since the little Welsh Attorney gave so striking an example of oratorical vituperation as the speech he delivered at Limehouse, London, thereby adding a new word to the already substantial dictionary of English slang—"limehousing." But these years though they have seen a reduction in the crudenesses of which Mr. Lloyd George as a proletarian was guilty, have not robbed his tongue of any of its virility, and the suggestion that the Tory party takes to tariff reform as some people do to alcohol when worried, may very well stick and do more harm than columns of argument directed against the revenue proposals of Mr. Stanley Baldwin.

From an outside point of view we are astonished that Mr. Lloyd George should have made the statement that with the exception of free trade Holland wages in no other country were on a level with those prevailing in Great Britain. We were under the impression that the workers in the United States, in the matter of wages were infinitely better off than those of other countries. Certainly we are experiencing better trade conditions than Great Britain at the present time, and we can only wonder whether the ex-Premier's torrent of eloquence has not carried him away from a solid footing on facts.

We are not going to discuss at any great length the merits of the question put before the British electorate, except to say that in a world where most countries, for revenue or protection purposes find it necessary to erect tariff walls against imports from foreign lands, it is more than a little strange to see so great a faith in free trade still remaining in England, dependent to the greatest extent in the world on her very existence. It is, of course, no argument that because some countries have found certain tariff legislation much to their benefit that the whole of the world would find the same, but if it does bring about as it seems to have done in our own country a better state of affairs in the labor market than in England, we cannot be blamed for expressing surprise that the British have adhered so long to their policy.

Incidental to the main question, we find that Mr. Baldwin has in mind a scheme for the establishment of a sugar industry in Great Britain, by the remission of excise duty on home grown sugar. It was by means of legislation aimed at the total extinction of British trade with France, that Napoleon I created the important sugar beet growing in France which has endured to this day as an important and flourishing industry. It is clear that had not Napoleon kept British sugar out of French markets, the agriculturist would never have found it to pay to have grown the sugar beet, and we thus find, that a wholly insurmountable barrier against British exports did what it is hoped by Mr. Baldwin will be done by preferential treatment of the home producer.

It is a matter for congratulating our British friends that the issue is being put before the country in the clearest possible manner. Unfortunately British legislation does not provide for anything in the nature of a referendum or the issue might have been tested without the enormous expenditure of money which every general election entails, not only to the parties, but to the individuals themselves contesting constituencies. And even if it did, it is open to doubt whether a more unclouded presentation of the issue could be afforded than that given by Mr. Baldwin. How far the British premier has succeeded in placing his opponents at a disadvantage by the date he has chosen for the election, is not clear, may not be clear until the final results are announced. But that the Liberals did not want to test the issue at this juncture is manifested by their complaints as to the inopportunity of this appeal to the country. It is, however, one of those matters which the Premier has always in his hands. He can decide when he shall test the fortunes of a general election, and in doing so has exercised no greater right than any Liberal Premier before him.

Editorial Commen's

It would appear that the Home Rule party in India is in the ascendancy, and is likely to capture in the forthcoming elections quite a large number of seats on the Indian Legislative Assembly and on the Provincial Councils. The new campaign of the Swarajists, or Home Rule party, is to obtain strong representation in elective assemblies in order to wreck the machinery of constitutional government in India. The new-constituted Assembly, which has been functioning for the last three years, will shortly dissolve, and elections for the next three-year term will take place about the middle of next month. Reuter states that the outlook in this connection is none too good, for the obstructionist element has carried the polls in several districts.

The Indian Government may find its task more difficult in the future, should the non-co-operators secure the majority at the forthcoming elections. It is not surprising that the opposition party should be making the recent exercise by the Viceroy of his prerogative as regards the salt tax their platform. Some writers are of the opinion that Lord Reading has put into the hands of the obstructionists a formidable weapon likely to conquer many votes, and argue that the use by the Viceroy of his reserve powers was not intended for the ordinary and inevitable collisions between the Executive and the Legislature, and ought only to have been used to save the Indian Government from wreckage in a supreme crisis. Whether the Viceroy's action was ill-advised, unnecessary and dangerous is not our intention to enter into a discussion here. We hardly think that but for this past record of an alleged act of indiscretion the path of the British in India would be smooth. In certifying the salt tax and using his emergency powers to pass the last Indian Budget over the heads of the Indian Legislative Assembly the Viceroy acted within the powers conferred on him by the Government of India Act. That should be a convincing argument to those critics who seem to think that the Viceroy blundered in this instance. At any rate, the events in the political world of that country in the course of the next few days should provide much interesting study.

WITH EXCERPTS FROM GREAT THINKERS

By Mathy

CHANGE THE THOUGHT, CHANGE THE MAN

"Every art is but the result of some trained faculty of man."

The majority of people who make a failure in life do so because they never learn to guard and strengthen their weak points.

To correct deficiencies, remedy defective faculties, overcome peculiarities, and bring the mind into symmetry and poise so that it will express its maximum of power, will form a large part of the education of the future.

Years ago, Central Park and other parts of upper New York City were made very unsightly by "squatters," people who camped on vacant lands and built all kinds of unbeautiful shanties on them. They made a great deal of trouble for the real owners of the land especially those who resided abroad, because, after a protracted occupation, they would often dispute the ownership.

Many people are troubled with mental squatters, such as prejudice, bigotry, superstition, cowardice, jealousy, and all kinds of little peculiarities which seem harmless at first but which gradually become so entrenched in their lives that it is very difficult to dispossess them.

One of the hardest lessons we have to learn is that we build our bodies by our thoughts: that they are discordant or harmonious, diseased or healthy, in accordance with our habitual thought and the thought of those who preceeded us. There are those who, having learned this lesson, have had their countenances so altered in a single year by persistent right-thinking that one would scarcely recognise them. They have changed faces that were lined with doubt, disfigured with fear and anxiety, and scarred by worry or vice, to reflectors of hope, cheery and joy.

Saint Paul showed scientific knowledge when he said: "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind;" that is, the changing, ennobling, purifying, refreshing of our thoughts.

Growth everywhere neutralises decay. So long as we keep growing, renewing the mind, constantly reaching out for the new and progressive, the retrograding, disintegrating, aging, deteriorating processes can not be operative.

There is a law of perpetual renewal, a recreation constantly going on in us which is only interfered with by our adverse thought and discordant mental attitude.

The majority of us have had startling experiences of sudden mind renewal which have come unexpectedly and which have driven away the clouds from our minds, let in the sunshine of joy and happiness, and changed at least for the time, our whole outlook upon life. When we have been discouraged and everything looked dark, some good fortune has perhaps come to us suddenly, or some jovial, congenial friend whom we have not seen for a long time has called upon us, or we have taken a trip into the country, and all our mental hurts have been healed by the new balm of suggestion. Sometimes, perhaps, when traveling we have come across a bit of entrancing scenery or some beautiful work of art about which we have read and have long wanted to see, and this stronger affection and interest the marvelous suggestion of beauty, grandeur, and sublimity—has temporarily completely antidoted the worry thoughts or fear thoughts which a little while before were destroying our happiness.

Many people have an idea that the brain is not susceptible of any very great change: that its limits are fixed by the destiny of heredity, and that about all we can do is to give it a little polish and culture.

There are plenty of examples, however, of individuals who have completely revolutionised portions of their brains, and have made strong faculties of those which were weak at birth or deficient from lack of exercise. There are many instances where certain mental faculties have been almost entirely wanting, and yet have been built up so that they have powerfully buttressed the whole character.

Take courage, for instance. Many very successful people were once so completely devoid of this quality that lack threatened to wreck their whole future. But through the help of intelligent training by parents and teachers they developed it until it became strong.

This was done by the cultivation of self-confidence, by holding the constant suggestion of courage in the young mind, by the contemplation of brave and heroic deeds, the reading of the life stories and works of great heroes, by the suggestion that fear is a negative quality—the mere absence of the natural quality of courage which is every man's birthright—and by the constant effort to do courageous deeds.

The King's Comeback

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

Babe Ruth, momentarily a national institution, can not object to being used to point a moral and adorn a tale.

In 1921 he reached heights of heroism as a baseball player that him, in his own belief, beyond the arbitrary laws of professional baseball and the whims of baseball's czar, the former Judge Landis.

The New York Yankee team, having won the championship of its league, Babe Ruth organised a barnstorming tour to cash in further on his fame.

Which was against the rule.

Judge Landis fumed and fulminated in vain. Ruth was successfully defiant.

But Landis laughed last.

Before the 1922 season opened, he imposed upon Ruth a fine and a six-weeks' suspension without pay which practically confiscated the "illegal" gains of the King of Swat.

Ruth sulked, failed to get into the excellent physical condition necessary for professional baseball; was sullen and lost popular favor.

Nor did he co-operate with his team-mates. Which made even the great star fade out. Often he was booed by the fans that used to be frantic with enthusiasm over him.

The King had lost his crown. The final test of the world's championship games only deepened the ignominy.

But Ruth experienced something like a spiritual rebirth last Winter.

He worked hard to get and to keep himself in condition. He polished up his crown and brought it shining to the new season of 1923.

He is a changed man. Instead of indulging in the sulky sullenness of the preceding year, he has been the sprightliest, hardest-working, most co-operative of players.

He is the stimulating inspiration of his own team, the terror of opposing teams; probably the most valuable player of the year.

The King has come back.

All of which is here narrated for two reasons.

One, as a deserved tribute to a great player and a remarkable personality. The other, to illustrate the possibility of a comeback to any one who chooses to stage a "happy return."

It is amazing how readily persons will slump and then take for granted that they are defeated and their day is done.

The writer knows a man of fifty-eight. He is of the salt of the earth. But two years ago he slumped and almost went down.

Suddenly his spirit experienced a sea-change; and now, past middle age, he is younger than ever, full of pep and courage, the practical head of the big business in which most of his adult life he had been only a plodding, faithful servant.

Like Ruth, he came back.

Like both of these, you too can practically begin life over again—at any stage of the game.

IF YOU WILL.

Famous Love Letters

DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH
1650-1722

It was this English nobleman who blocked the carefully-laid plans of Louis XIV to capture the city of Vienna and won for himself the royal favor of Queen Anne and many handsome properties. Marlborough at one time pushed his armies almost to the gates of Paris, but while the campaign lasted for nearly two years the French dug themselves into an impregnable position, which stopped the English advance and finally ended in the Peace of Utrecht.

The wife of the Duke had not been idle while her distinguished husband was in the field and had attained a position at home which was almost as powerful as that of Queen Anne. Though brilliant and imperious, the Duchess was far from amiable and eventually alienated many of the friends who might have been useful to her husband's career. But despite her mischievous qualities and uncontrollable temper, Marlborough always adored her and writes to her again, "I can have no happiness until I am with you." Like the Countess of Shrewsbury, the Duchess lived to a ripe old age, displeased and displeasing, at variance with her relatives, resentful and vindictive.

The Duke of Marlborough to the Duchess:

The Hague, April 23, 1706.

I am very uneasy at not having heard from you since my being in in this country; and, the wind continuing in the east, I am afraid I shall not have the satisfaction of receiving any letter from my dearest soul before I leave ths place, which will be the next week. I am yet in uncertainty where I shall serve this summer, for Cadogan is not yet returned from Hanover; but by a letter I have received from the King of Denmark and that I send by this post to Lord Treasurer, I see that I must not depend upon any of the Danish troops; so that if Hanover should persist in doing the same, which these people should consent to what I propose, it will not let you know the certainty of what I shall be able to do.

My dearest soul, my desire of being with you is so great that I am not able to express the impatience I am in to have this campaign over. I pray God it may be so happy that there may be no more occasion of my coming, but that I may ever stay with you, my dearest soul.

Ramillies, Monday, May 24, 11 o'clock.

I did not tell my dearest soul the design I had of engaging the enemy, if possible, to a battle, fearing the concern she has for me might make her uneasy; but I can now give her the satisfaction of letting her know that on Sunday last we fought and that God Almighty has been pleased to give us a victory. I must leave the particulars to this bearer, Colonel Richards, for, having been on horseback all Sunday, and after the battle marching all night, my head aches to that degree that it is very uneasy to me to write. Poor Bingfield, holding my stirrup for me and helping me on horseback, was killed. I am told that he leaves his wife and mother in a poor condition. I can't write to any of my children, so you will let them know I am well and that I desire they will thank God for preserving me. And pray give my duty to the Queen and let her know the truth of my heart, that the greatest pleasure I have in this success is that it may be a great service to her affairs; for I am sincerely sensible of all her goodness to me and mine. Pray believe me when I assure you that I love you more than I can express.

United States Coal Supplies

(Foreign Press Service)

The story of world coal production and the share supplied by the United States is told in some figures compiled by the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York. The tabulation shows that the world's coal output which stood at 1,141,600,000 short tons in 1910, the earliest official figures, had advanced to 1,478,000 in 1913, the year preceding the war, then dropped to 1,170,000 in 1915, slowly advancing to 1,306,000,000 in 1918, the closing of the war, and stood at approximately 1,332,000,000 short tons in 1922.

Accepting unofficial figures of production for earlier years, the total world output grew from 12,000,000 short tons in 1800 to 80,000,000 in 1850, 800,000,000 in 1900, 1,478,000,000 in 1913, and 1,332,000,000 in 1922. Meantime American own production grew from twenty long tons in 1814 to 6,000,000 in 1850, 240,000,000 in 1900, and 608,000,000 in the high record year 1918, dropping to 411,000,000 in 1922, the lowest record since 1908.

The share which the United States supplied of world ouput in the years immediately preceding the war averaged thirty-eight per cent, advancing to about forty-seven percent in the closing year of the war, then dropping to forty percent in 1920, and but little more than thirty-five percent in the year 1922, in which the production was the smallest since 1908.

Despite the abnormally low production of 1922, the United States still far outranks the other coal producing countries of the world. According to the Geological Survey the 1922 output of the half dozen biggest coal producing countries of the world, stated in metric tons, was United States 417,000,000; Great Britain, 256,000,000; Germany, 141,000,000 of coal and 137,000,000 of lignite; France, 32,000,000; Japan, 25,000,000; Poland, 24,000,000; and Belgium 22,000,000. The United States has since 1900 been constantly the world's largest producer of coal.

It is quite natural, adds the Trade Record, that the United States should, not only head the list of coal producing nations, but also supply in normal years from one-third to nealy one-half of the world's output. A world geological congress which met in Canada just before the war with the special purpose of discussing the coal reserves of the various parts of the globe came to the conclusion that the United States had slightly more than one-half of the world's known "coal reserve," estimating the underground coal supply at 3,854,000,000,000 metric tons, against 1,234,000,000,000 in Canada, 996,000,000, in China, 403,000,000 in Germany, as it then existed, and 190,000,000,000 in Great Britain.

These figures suggest that the United States alone would be able to meet the coal requirments both at home and abroad for a very long period, since the Geological Survey estimates that the 14,000,000,000 tons which the United States has turned out in the 210 years since American coal mining began formed only about one percent of the original supply, and that approximately ninety-nine percent of this vast and valuable reserve still awaits the call of the coal consuming world.

Chinese Graves In France

It may be of interest to readers of your paper, especially to those who were in any way connected with the Chinese Labor Corps, if I try to describe a visit which I paid a month ago to the Chinese Cemeteries in the North of France writes the Rev. C. W. Scott in the Peking and Tientsin Times. My object in going was to see the old camps and places where the coolies used to work and to get photographs of the cemeteries where so many of the men were buried.

In my visit I was much indebted to the War Graves Commission whose Headquarters are at St. Omer, and whose Colonel invited me to travel in a car with one of his staff. We went first of all to Dunkirk, where I found great changes in the Town, as the houses had been in many cases rebuilt and re-roofed. The sites of the old camps in the little village behind Dunkirk were all ploughed up and under cultivation. With some difficulty I found my way to the little cemetery where 50 Chinese were buried; some of them coolies from the Company with which I was connected. The enclosure was surrounded by a barbed-wire fence and over each grave a stone, similar in appearance to the stones over British Soldiers' graves, had been erected. On the stones was a Chinese inscription: "A good reputation endures forever," with the laborer's name underneath, and his number and date of death, while down the right hand side was inscribed his province and district.

From Dunkirk we went to two British Cemeteries, Wimereux and Terlingthun close to Boulogne. The cemeteries were beautifully laid out with grass walks along each row of graves and with flowers growing in front of each head stone, while dominating the whole Cemetery was a white stone Cross and the Stone of Remembrance.

A little way outside Boulogne, on the Etaples Road, is a place called St. Etienne, just beyond the village of Pont-au-Briques. Here, at the top end of the French Communal Cemetery, lay the graves of about 200 coolies, many of whom had died in the Hospital, from wounds caused by bombs. In this spot a stately monument in Chinese style had been erected with an inscription in Chinese, French, and English. An English gardener was at work taking great interest in the flowers, and trying to keep the grass well mown and tidy. From this little place we went to Etaples and looked at the enormous Cemetery where eleven thousand officers and men of the British Army are buried. The Cemetery slopes down from the Sand Dunes to the Sea and a quiet and picturesque background is afforded by a little grove of pine trees with the Stone Cross in the middle and two geat stone towers on either side.

Of all the vast Camps and Hospitals scarcely a trace is left and the Cemetery alone remains in its simple dignity. After some food in a hut occupied by one of the gardeners, married to a French woman, we went along country roads and through tiny villages to a place known to all who came to France with coolies — Noyelles — the Depot, from which place nearly one hundred thousand coolies went out to all parts of France. The huts, and buildings used for Hospital and Depot purposes have all disappeared and nothing remains except the Cemetery. This is surrounded by a low wall and contains 860 graves in long straight rows with grass paths running along each row and flowers growing in front of each grave. A handsome stone each with suitable inscription has been erected at the entrance and a paved walk leads to the center of the ground where there are shrubs surrounded by a stone pavement. The man in charge was very keen and interested in his work: he lives in the village and has many friends who tell him of the days when the Chinese coolies lived there. He told me that the last coolie buried there was found under one of the huts when the French were removing them. Apparently the unfortunate coolie had been murdered by his friends and his body deposited under the floor boards.

It seemed strange to be in this village with its memories of the past and one half expected to see a gang of coolies marching up the road and to hear the noise of shouting and singing which are so intimately connected with the "Chink."

As it was getting late we did not stop very long but hurried on to Abbeville, where we went to the British Cemetery, which in the evening light looked most attractive and peaceful. Here we found some more gardeners just finishing their day's work. My friend told me that there were twelve hundred English men working as gardeners in the Cemeteries in France and living in little villages up and down the countryside. The French people appear to be much impressed by the careful attention which the British Government is paying to the Cemeteries, not only to the ones where British men lie buried, but also to those where Chinese, Indians, South Africans and Egyptians have their graves.
